

Application Development: SharePoint Optimize Your SharePoint Investment

Augment the out-of-the-box functionality of Microsoft SharePoint™ to address a wide range of business needs. Through Application Development: SharePoint from Viderity, we help you get the best value from your SharePoint investment and drive user adoption.

Let Viderity help you unlock the true potential of Microsoft SharePoint. Whether you're focused on web content management and social networking, business intelligence, or helping associates connect and work together, we can help you reach your goals.

Our service is enriched by a suite of home-grown assets such as customized business intelligence and reporting services. The reusable framework components connect with the underlying financial business ecosystem and generate reports for a comprehensive overview.

Improve Your SharePoint Experience

As more and more organizations implement SharePoint, many aren't getting the full return on their investment due to lower than expected user adoption, migration issues, and unmet functional and technical expectations. Organizations' unique business and technical requirements often lead them to implement third-party tools or custom develop such tools.

We work with you to deploy, integrate and manage SharePoint-based intranets, extranets and microsites and make them accessible across different channels using our repository of prebuilt SharePoint assets and framework.

We help you obtain, organize, store and deliver information crucial to your operation in the most effective manner using SharePoint. You eliminate ad hoc processes that can expose you to regulatory compliance risks and other potential problems.
